

Programs Eligible for Transfer Credit

Study Abroad in Non UW–Madison Programs

We accept transfer credit from study abroad programs offered by the following institutions. This list is not comprehensive; it only identifies the most common programs from which we accept credit. Other study abroad programs offered by accredited, degree-granting institutions would likely qualify for transfer credit as well. Although these programs qualify for transfer credit, not every course offered by the program will necessarily qualify as a transferable course. Course content must be academic and college level, and students must receive a final evaluation for their academic work.
